A POLITICAL GAME

With Poland As The Stage

Warsaw, May 17.
Behind the pomp and pageantry of Marshal Pilsudski's funeral the French, German and Polish politicians are playing a political game here, with Poland as the stage.

The opinion is generally held that M. Laval, French Foreign Minister, is emphasising to the Poles that Russians and French, combined, are a far more valuable ally than the Germans, and at present it seems that he may succeed.

He will be helped by the news that Czechoslovakia is in agreement with idea for a mutual assistance pact and also by the death of Marshal Pilsudski, who was a great opponent of the Russian alliance, and further by the pro-French feeling among many high Polish army officials and the public, led by the Jews; while Polish culture has more in common with France than with Germany and Poland is more Catholic than Nazi Germany.

M. Laval may go to Berlin in a month or so, and clearly he will be in a much stronger position then, if Germany seems to be losing Poland's friendship.

In view of next week's meeting of the League of Nations Council at Geneva.

MEETING OF LEAGUE

Free Hand For Mr. Eden

London, May 18.
Mr. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, saw His Majesty the King this morning at Buckingham Palace. He is proceeding to Geneva to attend the meeting of the League Council. It is understood that Captain Eden has been given a somewhat free hand.

It is expected that the smaller Powers are likely to press for an undertaking by Italy and Abyssinia that conciliatory measures be pursued pending the next meeting of the Council. Abyssinia in the meantime has appointed as two members of the proposed Italo-Abyssinian conciliation committee the Frenchman, M. de la Pradelle, the leading international jurist, and the American, Mr. P. B. Potter, the well-known political scientist.

HELPFUL FEATURE

A helpful feature towards a settlement is that the Abyssinians are believed to be prepared not to press for the immediate consideration of the question of frontier delimitation, but have agreed to the Italian suggestion that the commission at this stage should only deal with the Wal Wal incident. The indefinite nature of the frontier is undoubtedly at the bottom of all the trouble.

Sir Eric Drummond, the British Ambassador there, will return to duty at Rome almost immediately.

"DOC" BAKER To Serve Life Sentence

St. Paul, May 17.
Minnesota's notorious "Doc" Barker, leader of one of the most dangerous criminal gangs in the country, has been sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the kidnapping of the wealthy St. Paul banker, Mr. Edward Bremer, Bremer was carried off last January and held to ransom.

Others members of the gang were also convicted. All were captured after a gun battle with police at Ocklawaha, Florida, in January.

In that bloody duel "Ma" Barker and her son Fred were shot to death. "Ma" Barker, as great a villain as any of her menfolk, fought blithely to the end, firing a "tommy-gun" at the police who were advancing under the scant cover afforded by the trees in the garden of the house in which the gang had taken refuge.

THE GRAN CHACO DISPUTE

Bright Prospects For End

London, May 17.
The prospects of a settlement of the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute, in connection with which there has recently been sanguinary and inconclusive fighting near the Villa Montes oilfields, are now considered brighter.

This is due to the success of the mediatory efforts of the Chilean and Argentine Governments, which at the request of the League of Nations Assembly Advisory Committee have been on the Assembly's report and recommendations of November last.

The Advisory Committee, meanwhile, had summoned a special meeting of the Assembly at Geneva for Monday next, but it now seems probable that the satisfactory progress of the negotiations will be noted at the meeting and that the question of the further application of the League Covenant, which was to have been considered, will be postponed pending the conclusion of these negotiations.

CHRISTIANITY
ATTACKEDScenes At Meeting
Of Heathens

Munich, May 18.
A violent attack on the Roman Catholic Church was made at the first public meeting of the German Heathens ever held in Catholic Bavaria.

The audience of 2,000 people, half of whom were uniformed Nazis, beat beer glasses on the tables and stamped their boots on the floor in enthusiastic applause while the local heathen leader, Backosen, harangued for two hours.

He declared: "the mealy-mouthed ritual of the Catholic Order is a more effective emetic than that from any drug store. The Catholic Confessional is worse than farical. Can you imagine a Nazi 'blackguard' making a pilgrimage to Rome to kiss the Pope's toe?"

Critics in the audience shouted "Hang Archbishop Faulhaber!" and "Down with Christianity!" One commentator who spoke in favour of Christianity was ejected with flying fists before he was able to produce his membership card, showing that he joined the Nazi Party in 1923.

GOVERNMENT LOAN
NEGOTIATIONS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, May 17.
Negotiations for a Government loan of 100 million marks for the purpose of employment creation by the Government, Insurance bank have been proceeding for some time now and are practically concluded. It is understood from official quarters. It can be assumed that the new loan will be on the same lines of the 41 per cent. 500 million mark loan issued at 98.25 per cent. recently made by the Government for the same purpose by saving banks.

It is not yet certain whether the proceeds of the new loan will be utilised for the redemption of the employment creation drafts or for new measures creating employment. It is also probable that the emission rate would not be identical with the savings banks loan since it depends on the conditions prevailing in the market at the time of issue.

NEWS FROM CHINA

REPAIRING THE GREAT WALL

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Peiping, May 12.
Under the joint auspices of the Peiping Cultural Affairs Readjustment Committee and the Peiping-Suiyuan Railway Administration, a section of the Great Wall of China, which is considered one of the seven wonders of the world, near the Hopei-Charhar border, is to be repaired in the near future.

A memorandum, containing detailed plans for the repair of the dilapidated portions of the northern and southern sections of the Great Wall at Pataling, has been drawn up by the Engineering Department of the Peiping-Suiyuan Railway Administration, and approved by the Peiping Cultural Affairs Readjustment Committee.

Pointing out that the Great Wall, built in the Chin Dynasty (246-206 B.C.) under the direction of Chin Shih Huang-Ti, is one of the largest pieces of construction work ever accomplished in the world, the memorandum deprecates that in many sections the Great Wall has fallen into decay. In order to facilitate sight-seeing trips to the Great Wall by tourists, it is proposed to effect immediate repairs on its northern and southern sections, in accordance with the following plans:

The tower over the city gate at Pataling, being the main entrance to the Great Wall, is to be repaired with a view to restoring its original appearance. The repair expenses are fixed at $8,800. The first beacon mound, which connects the north and southern sections of the Great Wall, is to be repaired at a cost of $1,600. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th beacon mounds are to be repaired at a total cost of $2,200. The battlements near the first beacon mound are to be repaired at a cost of $1,500. The total expenses are fixed at $20,000, which will be appropriated by the Peiping Cultural Affairs Readjustment Committee.

CHINA'S FOREIGN TRADE

In The First Quarter
Of 1935

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Shanghai, May 13.
According to the latest statistics issued by the Inspectorate General of Customs, foreign trade figures for the first quarter of 1935 are: imports $254,000,386, being $33,645,426 less than in the corresponding period last year; exports, for the three months of January, February and March, $135,818,505, being $6,891,568 higher than in the corresponding period last year.

At first glance the tendency towards imports decrease and exports increase may be taken as an improvement in China's foreign trade. But upon a closer examination it will be found that the changed situation was chiefly due to the rapidly rising price of silver. Therefore imports into China in terms of money may be less than those of last year, but that does not necessarily mean that the total quantity of imports to China has decreased.

Further, the item of foodstuffs topped the list of imports, very plainly showing that rural conditions in China are deplorable. Statistics of Customs reveal that foreign rice imported into China for the month of March alone amounted to $7,889,380. There are several causes ascribed for this enormous rice import: firstly, the floods in North China and the drought in Kiangsu and Chekiang last year, secondly, the existence of inter-port duties and exorbitant levies.

Reduction of Tax

As a measure of remedying the situation, Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance, declared recently that the reduction of the export tax and the abolition of interport transit tax will be enforced beginning from July 1. Besides this remedial measure, the National Government has been engaged in various fields in encouraging rural investments, increasing loans to farmers, promotion and organization of co-operative societies and reforming the grain storage system. When these steps are fully taken there is every reason to believe that imports into will decrease very materially.

Chinese Athletes Hold Extra Trial

Shanghai, May 12. At the extra trials which took place yesterday afternoon at the Stadium for the selection of Chinese representatives for the coming international track and field meeting to be held during the next week-end, five candidates were picked.

Paul Fu was selected for the pole vault; he cleared the bar at 3.55 metres with little effort. K. K. Chang, who did the hop-step-and-jump with a distance of 13.46 metres, was also picked. Z. Loo and K. W. Wong will wear China's colours, the former throwing the discus 33.59 metres, while the latter made 6.39 metres in the broad jump. K. Y. Chen was selected for high hurdles.

Entries for the international track and field meeting will close to-morrow noon at the office of the China National Amateur Athletic Federation at the Stadium.

THE "ILIAD"

And Gallipoli

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

"We, who fought at the Dardanelles, and have read the 'Iliad,' saw how history repeated itself," said Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton yesterday to the members of the newly-formed British Empire Service Club at luncheon at the St. Ermin's Hotel, S.W.

"The 'Iliad' contains what we should now call 'Despatches from the Siege of Troy'—and that campaign was almost the duplicate of ours. Instead of a wooden horse we made use of a steel ship—that was about the extent of the difference.

"Before another 1,000 years have passed the two legends will have blended together, and the histories will be expounded in the schools as beautiful images of wicked happenings of long ago.

"Yet all the same, wicked or not, if that bad and toothless professor is able to trace his descent from a man who fell at the Dardanelles he will not fail to let his students know it, for those who died there will never be forgotten.

"The memory of that great event does not grow fainter now, or less frequent with the years. To-day is only the 20th anniversary of the landing of the Anzacs on the most romantic battlefield of the Old World, yet see how our memorial services are growing!

"The wonder of seeing these young giants come sailing up in their ships to help their King in his trouble grows, and ever since the grip of the picture has been tightening upon our imaginations."

"STOOD BY MOTHER COUNTRY"

Mr. J. H. Thomas, who presided at the luncheon, which inaugurated the Empire Service Club, spoke of the part played by the people of the Empire during the war. They were not concerned, he said, with the rights and wrongs of the dispute. All they were concerned about was to stand by the Mother Country.

"We see," he continued, "dictatorships of the Left and dictatorships of the Right. Monarchs are deposed and Constitutions are torn up. Yet in a few days we of the Empire will do honour to our monarch, and we will be able truthfully to say that our King reigns over one of the few democracies left in the world."

LONDON'S REMEMBRANCE

Earlier in the day Sir Ian Hamilton attended a Gallipoli-Anzac Day service of remembrance at the Church of St. Clement Dames, Strand. Wreaths were placed upon the war shrine by Mr. S. M. Bruce (High Commissioner for Australia) and Sir James Parr (High Commissioner for New Zealand), who also read the lessons.

Many wreaths were afterwards laid on the Cenotaph. One, from the Mothers' Union of New Zealand, and made of New Zealand flowers, arrived in a block of ice. Those who laid the wreaths were: Sir James Parr and Sir Henry Gullett (reptg. the Govts. of New Zealand and Australia respectively).

Col. Sir John Brown, Adml. C. R. Payne and Mr. A. G. Webb (reptg. the British Legion); Sir Ian Hamilton (reptg. the British Empire Service League); F.-M. Sir William Birdwood; Gen. Sir Alexander Godley; and Gen. Voruz and Capt. Latham (Military and Naval Attaches to the French Embassy).

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR

The American Ambassador, Mr. Bingham, with Mrs. Bingham, attended the annual memorial service to the 28th Division, Gallipoli, 1915-16, at Holy Trinity, Eitham, S.E. In a short address he said:

"A great responsibility rests upon your people, my people, the people on both sides of the Atlantic who are committed to peace. On us rests the responsibility that by our combined will and might we may help to bring to a troubled world everlasting peace."

A memorial to the 28th Division, at this church, which was commenced in 1917 by the vicar, the Rev. H. A. Hall, is now, after 18 years' work, complete.

SERVICE ON CRUISER

A special Anzac Day service was held on the quarterdeck of the cruiser Australia, which is at Portsmouth for refitting. Captain W. S. F. Macleod, and all the officers and ship's company, attended. The Australian ensign was flown at half-mast throughout the day, and two minutes' silence was observed. Two wreaths were laid on the graves of Australian and New Zealand soldiers at

EMBASSIES IN CHINA

Satisfaction Felt By Press

London, May 18.

General satisfaction will be caused at the elevation of the Legation at Peking to an Embassy, declares the "Times" in a leading article. The Chinese are one of the greatest races in the world, not only in numbers, but as heirs of an ancient civilisation, with achievements in art, literature and philosophy which the rest of the world is beginning to appreciate at their true value.

From the time when China first came into contact with Western civilisation Britain has played a leading and honourable part in her development. There is a long tradition of friendship, cemented by the services rendered to China by men like Sir Robert Hart and Sir Frederick Maze, and more British money is invested in China than in any other foreign country; and, apart from other considerations, Britain has a great material interest in the progress and prosperity of China.

It was high time for the change and Sir Alexander Cadogan has well earned the title of first British Ambassador to the Chinese Republic.

CHINESE COMMENT

Shanghai, May 18.

The leading Chinese newspapers commend the elevation of the Chinese and Japanese Legations to Embassies, and the British and American announcements regarding similar plans.

The "Sin Wen Pao" says that the action is an expression of mutual respect, on which the settlement of future questions must be based, and urges Japan to respect Chinese territorial integrity and independence in Central China.

The "China Times" declares that Chinese and Japanese relations cannot be improved by the elevation of Legation but by Japan changing her aggressive policy towards China, and adds that the elevation of the three foreign Legations may pave the way to a settlement of existing outstanding problems.

BERLIN INTENTIONS

Nanking, May 18.

Under instruction from Berlin, Counsellor Lautenschlager called at the Foreign Office for the purpose of conveying the Reich Government's decision to promote the Legation to the rank of an Embassy.

It is understood that the Chinese Government also expressed its readiness to take similar action. Meanwhile a message received in Peking from Berlin states that Dr. Trautmann will remain in China as German Ambassador when the status of the Legation is raised to that of an Embassy.

REWARD OFFERED

Kennedy Road Assault

Recalled

In connection with the assault made on Mrs. Anderson, wife of Captain F. P. M. Anderson, R.A.M.C., in a lonely path in the vicinity of Kennedy Road on May 8, with the result that the lady was picked up later in an unconscious condition after the thief had snatched her handbag from her, a reward of $250 has now been offered by the police for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the wanted man.

The report states that the man is tall and thin, with long black hair. He was not wearing any hat when last seen, but had brown shoes and striped trousers. He is 20 years old.

Milton Cemetery, Portsmouth, by petty officers on behalf of the officers and ratings of the Australia.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER IN BELFAST

Mr. J. A. Lyons, the Australian Prime Minister, who is the guest of Viscount Craigavon, the Northern Ireland Prime Minister, at Stormont Castle, Belfast, placed a wreath on the Belfast War Memorial Cenotaph. He later issued an Anzac Day message, in which he said, "Let us while remembering the valorous deeds of those who laid down their lives for a great ideal, do all in our power, in common with other sections of the British Commonwealth of Nations, to fight now for the ideal of peace."

LONDON NOTES

By The Air Mail

(From Our Own Correspondent)

London, April 30.
Arrangements are being made to hold the full Imperial Conference in 1935.
I understand that it will take place in London.

The tradition of London as the meeting-place for the Empire was broken by the holding of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in 1932.
That was essentially a trade gathering. There has been no Imperial Conference on a really complete scale since that held here in 1930.

Barrier of Distance
Canada is not likely to seek the staging of two successive Conferences. Australia and New Zealand may feel that distance is too great a bar to holding the 1938 meeting there.

Except, therefore, in the unlikely event of South Africa seeking the honour, London will again be the Imperial rendezvous.
Details will be discussed when Ministers from all the Dominions reach London for the Jubilee.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE WITH THE ARMY

I hear that Mr. Lloyd George is to give an address at Aldershot. A Drumhead Service is being held on Sunday, May 12, and Mr. Lloyd George has accepted the invitation of the Mayor and Corporation to give the address.

All units of the Aldershot Command will, I understand, be represented, and Gen. Sir Francis Gathorne-Hardy, the G.O.C., will be present with his staff.

This will be the first occasion Mr. Lloyd George has made personal contact with the Army for a long time.

"FIFTY-FIFTY" TAXATION
A return to the old principle of revenue based on a "fifty fifty" ratio between direct and indirect taxation seems indicated by a statement issued by the Financial Secretary to the Treasury.

In reply to a question in Parliament, Mr. Duff Cooper has stated that in the 1924 Budget the proportion was 58.93 per cent. direct taxation and 33.07 per cent. indirect. For the next year he gives, 1930, it was 55.77 per cent. and 34.23 per cent.

The 1932 and 1934 Budgets continued the trend towards equality, and in the present financial year the country is asked to provide 59.77 per cent. in direct taxes and 40.23 per cent. in indirect.

Since 1930, therefore, the disparity between the two forms of taxation has been lessened by 12 per cent.

SECOND THOUGHTS BEST
I hear that Mr. Charles Holden, architect of the new London University, has now received permission to proceed with the great 200ft tower.

This is one of the most important features of the scheme. The design of the tower has, I gather, been considerably improved by the decision to install electric heating. This will do away with the chimney.

As will be seen from my illustration, it forms an unsightly break in the otherwise academic severity of the original design.

HIGH CASTLE
The future Nepalese Minister in London, is, I hear, considering how far it will be possible to relax the caste rules which hinder social intercourse with Europeans.

His wife, who is strictly pariah, and so far speaks no English, will nevertheless be allowed, it is hoped, to take some part in diplomatic life.

Both are technically forbidden by caste rules to eat or drink in public, and a special dispensation had to be obtained from Hindu priests before they could cross the "black water."

He arrived in this country some time ago, but does not take over from his cousin, Commanding General Sir Bahadur Shumshere Jung Bahadur, till after the Jubilee ceremonies.

Impressive Titles
His own full title is: His Excellency General Prince Krishna Shumshere Jung Bahadur Rana.

Impressive as this is, however, it pales before the splendour of the title of the Maharaja of Palala; who, I understand, arrives next week for the King's Jubilee.

The Maharaja is Major-General His Highness Farzand-I-Khas Daulat-I-Inglista Mansur-Ul-Umara Maharaja-Dhira, Rajeshwar Shri Maharaja-I-Rajgan. Sir Bhupendra Singh Mohinder Bahadur.

He has taken almost an entire floor at the Savoy Hotel. He is bringing two Court dancers and musicians to give performances to some of the King's guests.

ANY LETTERS FOR YOU?

Post Office Notice

(From Our Own Correspondent)

London, April 30.
Arrangements are being made to hold the full Imperial Conference in 1935.
I understand that it will take place in London.

The tradition of London as the meeting-place for the Empire was broken by the holding of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in 1932.
That was essentially a trade gathering. There has been no Imperial Conference on a really complete scale since that held here in 1930.

Barrier of Distance
Canada is not likely to seek the staging of two successive Conferences. Australia and New Zealand may feel that distance is too great a bar to holding the 1938 meeting there.

Except, therefore, in the unlikely event of South Africa seeking the honour, London will again be the Imperial rendezvous.
Details will be discussed when Ministers from all the Dominions reach London for the Jubilee.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE WITH THE ARMY

I hear that Mr. Lloyd George is to give an address at Aldershot. A Drumhead Service is being held on Sunday, May 12, and Mr. Lloyd George has accepted the invitation of the Mayor and Corporation to give the address.

All units of the Aldershot Command will, I understand, be represented, and Gen. Sir Francis Gathorne-Hardy, the G.O.C., will be present with his staff.

This will be the first occasion Mr. Lloyd George has made personal contact with the Army for a long time.

"FIFTY-FIFTY" TAXATION
A return to the old principle of revenue based on a "fifty fifty" ratio between direct and indirect taxation seems indicated by a statement issued by the Financial Secretary to the Treasury.

In reply to a question in Parliament, Mr. Duff Cooper has stated that in the 1924 Budget the proportion was 58.93 per cent. direct taxation and 33.07 per cent. indirect. For the next year he gives, 1930, it was 55.77 per cent. and 34.23 per cent.

The 1932 and 1934 Budgets continued the trend towards equality, and in the present financial year the country is asked to provide 59.77 per cent. in direct taxes and 40.23 per cent. in indirect.

Since 1930, therefore, the disparity between the two forms of taxation has been lessened by 12 per cent.

SECOND THOUGHTS BEST
I hear that Mr. Charles Holden, architect of the new London University, has now received permission to proceed with the great 200ft tower.

This is one of the most important features of the scheme. The design of the tower has, I gather, been considerably improved by the decision to install electric heating. This will do away with the chimney.

As will be seen from my illustration, it forms an unsightly break in the otherwise academic severity of the original design.

HIGH CASTLE
The future Nepalese Minister in London, is, I hear, considering how far it will be possible to relax the caste rules which hinder social intercourse with Europeans.

His wife, who is strictly pariah, and so far speaks no English, will nevertheless be allowed, it is hoped, to take some part in diplomatic life.

Both are technically forbidden by caste rules to eat or drink in public, and a special dispensation had to be obtained from Hindu priests before they could cross the "black water."

He arrived in this country some time ago, but does not take over from his cousin, Commanding General Sir Bahadur Shumshere Jung Bahadur, till after the Jubilee ceremonies.

Impressive Titles
His own full title is: His Excellency General Prince Krishna Shumshere Jung Bahadur Rana.

Impressive as this is, however, it pales before the splendour of the title of the Maharaja of Palala; who, I understand, arrives next week for the King's Jubilee.

The Maharaja is Major-General His Highness Farzand-I-Khas Daulat-I-Inglista Mansur-Ul-Umara Maharaja-Dhira, Rajeshwar Shri Maharaja-I-Rajgan. Sir Bhupendra Singh Mohinder Bahadur.

He has taken almost an entire floor at the Savoy Hotel. He is bringing two Court dancers and musicians to give performances to some of the King's guests.

WEST POINT OF THE AIR

America's flying eagles, make their thrilling debut on the screen in "West Point of the Air," drama of the United States Air Corps starring Wallace Beery that will be seen shortly at the Queen's Theatre.

Filmed almost entirely at famed Randolph Field, Texas, training school for young Army pilots, the picture is a startling revelation of the accomplishments of men in the air. For the first time on the talking screen every phase of cadet aviation instruction may be seen by the public.

Scene after scene of roaring speed-packed action shows the development of a young cadet from his entry in the flying course with "ground school" to the time he pilots his own plane in spectacular aerial reviews.

A romantic interlude in the lives of the cadets is provided by Maureen O'Sullivan and Rosaline Russell, who provide two sides to a dramatic triangle that almost results in the death of Wallace Beery, in trying to save his son Robert Young from cowardice.

Notable supporting roles in this epic of the air are filled by such outstanding players as Lewis Stone as General Carter, Commanding Officer of the air field; James Gleason as Joe Bags, an aviation mechanic who rules his life by astrology; Russell Hardie as Phil, the son of General Carter, who is crippled by a plane accident; Henry Wadsworth, Robert Taylor, and Robert Livingston as flying students, and Frank Conroy as an aviation captain.

UNDER PRESSURE

Travelling six thousand miles just to look at a tunnel seems an unusual form of entertainment. But Raoul Walsh, noted screen director, did just that as part of his preparation for "Under Pressure," for Film production coming to the King's Theatre on Wednesday.

With most of the dramatic action of this Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen feature laid in the grimy depths of a vehicle tunnel, Walsh decided to get his atmospheric data at first hand.

Accordingly, in company with Borden Chase, co-author of the original story and the screen play, who has spent most of his adult years in tunnel-driving, Walsh went back to New York to see for himself what the real thing looked like.

There he inspected every detail of the Hudson Mid-town bore, which is being driven from Manhattan to the Jersey shore, learning by actual experience what a "sand hog's" life is like and watching the driving processes a hundred feet below the surface of the Hudson.

A full-sized replica of an actual tunnel, nearly 500 feet long, was built at the studio. This setting contained every bit of apparatus used in actual tunnelling operations and its realism aroused the admiration of engineers who visited it.

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR

An Excellent Picture

"Devil Dogs of the Air" which had such a successful run at the Central Theatre is now being shown at the Alhambra and Kowloon residents were not slow in showing that they like the picture as much as the Hong Kong cinema fans did.

In this picture James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, as two Marines, carry their private feud into the air as "The Marines Devil Dogs."

The story sets the final stamp of conviction upon the notion that all men in uniform automatically give up the girl they love in favour of a "buddy," but it is not the story that is important.

What is really excellent is the portrait James Cagney paints as a belligerent, cock-sure flier, remodelled by the discipline of the Marine Corps. The stunt flying is remarkable and gives the audience the same pleasant sort of thrill that is wont to come by seeing something that is really dangerous but spectacularly performed.—R.R.

THE LITTLE MINISTER

Excellent Film

Katharine Hepburn, hailed as one of the most versatile actresses of to-day, comes to us in something very different to what we have been used to from her, in the "Little Minister" which, opened to crowded houses at the King's Theatre on Saturday.

Miss Hepburn plays the role of Babbie and the story tells of her courtship with Gavin Dishart, the little minister, played by John Beal. As is well-known, the story is a very touching one and so far as "entertainment value" is concerned, it is by far superior to many of the films that we have nowadays.

Donald Crisp as the kindly doctor gives a fine performance, and a word of praise must also be given to Alan Hale who takes the part of the fugged "Caledonian, making a stern fight "against drink and the devil."

The "Little Minister" is excellent fare and is thoroughly recommended as a film which will please every film fan.—F. M. A.

THEY COURT DEATH AND GIRLS...at the same time!

VANESSA

Her Love Story

There are very few people who have not read "Vanessa: Her Love Story," but after the local cinema public has had an insight to it, through the film now showing at the Queen's Theatre, I predict that there will be many more clamouring for the book which already has such a big following.

Returning to the film version, however, the producers were fortunate in that they secured the services of Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery for the leading parts. Seidom, if ever, has Miss Hayes been seen to such advantage and Montgomery, as though he were inspired by Miss Hayes's acting, excel himself as well. The result may well be imagined and when it is said that Otto Kruger, May Robson and Lewis Stone, only to mention a few, are in the supporting cast, then indeed nothing more need be said excepting that "Vanessa: Her Love Story" belongs to that category of film that it "guaranteed to satisfy even the most fastidious film fan."

"Vanessa: Her Love Story" is the latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production of David O. Selznick who gave the screen "Viva Villa," "David Copperfield" and "Dinner at Eight." William K. Howard directed.—F. M. T.

GROWTH OF SCOTTISH UNIVERSITIES

(Special Air Mail Service)

Glasgow, April 30. An interesting point concerning the growth of the Scottish Universities since the war is brought out in the report of the General Council to be submitted at the statutory half-yearly meeting in the University. There have been much greater increases in the numbers of students at Glasgow and St. Andrews than at the other two Scottish Universities. The number of students at Glasgow has increased from 2916 (in 1913-14) to 5226 (in 1933-34) and at St. Andrews from 508 to 1021. Aberdeen has remained little more than stationary, its numbers being 1069 and 1284, while Edinburgh shows a moderate increase from 3293 to 4251.

AUSTIN'S EASY VICTORY

Miss Stammers Beaten

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

H. W. Austin at the Melbury Club's open tournament at Kensington set the seal upon a sparkling week's play by beating G. L. Rogers in the final of the men's singles. In a previous round he had lost three games and yesterday he again lost three, his maximum for these singles, to Rogers. He had previously beaten two such fine players as E. G. N. Lee and C. E. Mallory, both Davis Cup players, as well as C. M. Jones, who is not quite a Davis Cup player as yet, by the astonishing score of 6-1, 6-0. His play is extraordinarily powerful and yet most wonderfully sure. He seldom goes to the net on the wrong ball and varies his deep and drastic driving with delicate drop shots and lobs of supreme cunning. There are not many men who can beat a man of Rogers' inches four times with a lob which sails over his head and never comes back.

Rain Interferes

The start of the match, timed for 2 p.m., was delayed for about half an hour by rain. Even when they began there was a slight drizzle, which increased as time went on. After winning four games by fluent and faultless lawn tennis, Austin dropped his service, but this was Roger's only respite, for Austin took the set at 8-1. They only got as far as 1-1 in the second set when the rain became so heavy that the court was rather like a skating rink, and they stopped at about 2.50 for safety-first reasons. They resumed at 3.20, and in ten more minutes the match was over. Austin suffered one slight lapse when, after winning Rogers's service to give him the 2-1 lead, he dropped his own, losing some of his nerve and length on the drive. However, he retaliated by winning Rogers's service for 3-2, and from that point went straight out with another sequence of perfect shots.

A Level Set

After this match had finished Miss Round beat Miss Stammers in the women's singles final, as was only to be expected of the woman champion. But the first set was a very level one, and Miss Stammers, though she could not get the lead when she wanted it, held her own bravely up to 6-6. Miss Round led by 4-2 and later by 5-4, but in the tenth game Miss Round served a double fault, and Miss Stammers scored with a rather lucky volley which enabled her to draw level. But Miss Round was hitting about as hard as Miss Stammers, and more accurately, and she was out at 8-6, after losing three match points in the last game. The second set was a runaway one for Miss Round, who played with more and more élan against an opponent who had begun to fade away. This is what often happens to the loser of a crucial first set, and the result was six quick games to Miss Round.

The little, fourteen-year-old Chinese girl, Miss Hoising, won her first restricted singles event. At Roehampton she reached the final, but was beaten by Miss J. Cox, aged fifteen.

BETWEEN TWO STOOLS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

Dr. Carl Winter, Vice-Mayor of Vienna, whose visit to London came to an end on Thursday, is in the curious position of being the only non-Fascist and non-Clerical official of prominence in Austria.

For many years he was a close friend of Dr. Otto Bauer, the Socialist leader, now living in exile in Prague. Dr. Winter is himself a Socialist, and, like a number of Viennese intellectuals, a strong Catholic and an ardent Monarchist at the same time.

A year ago, when the new Council of the Vienna Municipality was formed, he was made Vice-Mayor as a conciliatory gesture towards those Socialists who might be won over to the Government.

Dr. Winter's task has not been an easy one. He is allowed a certain freedom of political expression, but the Vienna proletariat is a trifle coy of his blandishments, and extreme Fascists are impatient of them.

Smart

Izzy and his wife dined at a restaurant for the first time. After being handed the bill, Izzy scrutinized it closely and said to the manager: "I say, you've charged us for dessert. We never touched it."

"But that was for kissing my wife," explained Izzy.

"I certainly didn't kiss your wife!" protested the manager indignantly.

"But she was there, wasn't she?"

FIVE FAMOUS PEOPLE DIE

Music's Grand Old Man.

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 3.

Three great professions, a sport and the ranks of the peerage suffered losses by the deaths of five noted people:

Sir Alexander Campbell Mackenzie, the Grand Old Man of Music.

Sir George Edward Cory, the South African historian.

Professor Herbert Efrerton Baker, the scientist.

James Hearn, the golf professional.

Lady Ulrica Baring, a daughter of the first Earl of Faversham.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie died at his home in Tavistock-street, London, W.C. He was eighty-seven years of age and had been ill for a month.

Student Becomes Chief

Before he was ten his father realized his talents. He scraped together enough money to send him to Sondershausen, Germany, to study. Three years later the boy was a violinist in the Ducal Orchestra there. From that he came home to the Royal Academy of Music. Then, his studies ended, he went to Edinburgh with the intention of carrying on his father's work as leader of a theatre orchestra.

Fate, fortunately, stepped in. In 1880 he was persuaded to devote his life to composing—and went to Florence (Italy) to live. There "The Bride" was written for the Worcester Festival. Followed, his best-known oratorio, "Rose of Sharon," his operas, "Columba" and "The Troubadour," both produced by the Carl Rosa Opera Company at Covent Garden.

Then, in 1888, he went back to the Royal Academy of Music—the student had become the principal.

A BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

Mr. Bennett, the Canadian Prime Minister, has been strongly pressed to make a holiday of his Jubilee visit to this country.

He will arrive accompanied by representatives of the Canadian Departments of Commerce and of External Affairs and by a troupe of secretaries. This is the manner of most of his "holidays."

He has been far from well recently, but his doctors find it impossible to stop him working.

A Pact In The Balance

Mr. Bennett will be listening rather than talking on this visit.

He has already under consideration commercial propositions from the United States. Now he is anxious to know how they complement or conflict with Imperial trade objectives.

In fact, the main outlines of a commercial treaty between Canada and the U. S. are, it is understood, already settled to the satisfaction of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Roosevelt.

Vested interests on both sides of the line, however, are actively preparing to "lobby" against the pact.

Its future is therefore in the balance. It may very possibly be decided by Mr. Bennett's talks in London.

Sir George Edward Cory, who was Hon. Archivist to the South African Union Government, died at Capetown, aged seventy-two.

Professor Herbert Baker died at his Buckinghamshire home, Latchmoor House, Gerrards Cross.

From 1902 to 1903 he was headmaster of Alvey's School, Dulwich.

Hearn was professional to the Princes Golf Club on Mitcham Common for thirty years.

DAWLISH BRIDE

At London Wedding

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 3.

Miss Mary I. M. Sanders, only daughter of Dr. Herbert Sanders and Mrs. Sanders, of Langdon House, Dawlish (formerly of Hong Kong), was married at All Souls' Church, Langham-place, London, on Wednesday, to Mr. T. E. E. Warren-Swettenham, only son of the late Major and Mrs. Warren-Swettenham, of Homestead, Dawlish.

The officiating clergy were the Rev. A. Buxton (rector) and the Rev. Copley Moyle.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a classical gown of pearl-coloured satin, and veil tinted to match, with wreath of orange blossom, and carried Harrisli lilies. Her ornaments were a pearl necklace (her father's gift) and a diamond brooch (the gift of her mother).

The bridesmaids—all children, and cousins of the bride and bridegroom—were Misses Anne, Evelyn and Rose Hickey, Miss Heather Alred-Brown, Miss Thelma Agnew and Miss Patricia Cope. They wore white muslin frocks, with forget-me-nots, while the three maids of honour—Miss Rosemary Longhurst, Miss Eleanor Crewe and Miss Ursula Sanders—were in gentian blue frocks and hats, and wore pink carnations.

Mr. Michael Bristow was best man.

The service was a choral one with special musical chosen by the bride.

After the reception, at the Langham Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Warren-Swettenham left for the English Lakes, the bride going away in a Marina blue two piece and hat to match. Their future home will be at Bockmer, nr. Marlow.

Among the large company present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lauder with the Misses Heather and Hazel Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Beavis & Mr. David Beavis, Miss Joan Beavis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hancock, Miss Inness and many others.

CONCUBINE STABBING CASE

According to information received by Mr. Peter H. Sin from Inspector Elston of the Criminal Investigation Department, Hong Kong Police Force, and also from the Court, the "Concubine stabbing case" will not now be heard at the Supreme Court as the two men, Chan Shing-shun and Ng Kin, who were committed to stand their trial at the Criminal Sessions on a charge of having procured Wong Tai and Li Chan to cause grievous bodily harm to Yu Sze-mul, the first accused's wife, were released from custody on Saturday.

It will be recalled that the stabbing took place on March 27, when Yu Sze-mul, the complainant, was returning from the market to her residence in Jaffe Road.

The last hearing of the case was on May 9, when both the accused were committed by Mr. W. Schofield to stand trial at the Session.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, the Assistant Attorney General, appeared for the prosecution at the proceedings in the Lower Court.

Li Shing, an unemployed, was sentenced to six months' hard labour by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy on Saturday for the possession of 49 counterfeit 10-cent pieces and 148 counterfeit 5-cent pieces on the Canton Wharf on Friday.

Sentence of 10 months' imprisonment was passed by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy on Saturday on Wong Fuk who was charged with returning from banishment before the expired time. Defendant was banished for 10 years in December last year.

For the theft of a watch from a boarder at Wah Tai College, No. 5 Yung Fai terrace, Kwok Chi, a 23-year-old unemployed was sentenced to one month's hard labour by Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy on Saturday.

Li Ping Wai, driver of private car No. 3767 was fined $25 by Mr. Schofield, at Central Magistracy, for driving without due care of caution near the Star Ferry.

Arrested on Friday on the Tai Hing Wharf in Connaught Road with 38 tael of raw opium and 22 tael of Government prepared opium in her possession, Leung Ching was on Saturday sentenced by Mr. W. Schofield to a fine of $1,900 or in default nine months' hard labour when convicted of possession of drug.

Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmit who prosecuted stated that the contraband was found in different parts of her body when searched.

BASEBALL PLANS IN SHANGHAI

Amateurs To Start Practice This Week

Shanghai, May 14.
The committee of the Shanghai Amateur Baseball Club will hold a meeting at 5.30 to-night at the Foreign Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of appointing a manager for the team during this coming season. The captain of the team will not be chosen for several weeks, according to Mr. C. Tobin, a member of the committee.

The appointment instead of the election of a manager is an innovation adopted this year. The move will not actually be made official until the new constitution, now being drawn up, has been adopted.

With the race meeting concluded, practice for the Amateurs will soon be under way. Construction has begun on the stands, and the diamond is being laid out. Practice is expected to start before the end of the week.

The Amateurs are faced this season with a scarcity of pitches. Liboon so far is the only man who can be used on the mound.

The infield will have four veterans from last season, however. At first base is Fielden. Ward will be at second, Krauss at third and short stop will be played by Lamneck, who was captain last year.

In the outfield there will be Deegan, Huebner, and Ward, with Riley as utility. Don Brosseau will catch.

So far nothing is known about new material to strengthen the team. Some names have come in, one of which is Bill Biesel, who played at Dartmouth College. Others are Smith and Honeycutt.

"FAULTS IN NEGATIVES"

Interesting Talk To Photographers

A large number of "camera fans" were present at the "K" Room of the Hong Kong University on Saturday night when Mr. Peter A. Dragon, the well-known photographer, gave a lecture on "Faults in Negatives" which was illustrated by slides, loaned for the occasion by Messrs. Ilford Limited.

That the great fascination in photography lay in its wide scope, its great possibilities and its unlimited utility, formed part of Mr. Dragon's talk.

Mr. Dragon went on to say that as the attractiveness of a photograph lay in the final print and as the print was dependent on the negative, the first step should be to attain perfection in negative-making.

He then showed various slides illustrating the major faults and also gave some excellent advice on how to avoid these faults.

PROMISING ESSEX PLAYERS

North London Tournament

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.
Essex has some ripening talent, judging by the excellent form shown by two young members of the county team, H.A. Hare and S. Peachey, at the North London Hard Courts Club's tournament at Highbury yesterday. Neither won, but each put up a great fight against much stronger opposition. Hare being beaten by F. H. D. Wilde, 6-4, 6-3, and Peachey losing to Y. Kuwahara, the Japanese, by 8-7, 8-1.

Hare, indeed, was rather unlucky not to win the first set from Wilde. He led 4-1, and Wilde was 15-40 down on his service in the next game. Hare drove with a good length and severity on both hands, and his kicking service often found the corners. Wilde, however, was very accurate with his drives, and playing some perfect passing strokes, saved the set and was always too good afterwards.

Peachey showed a pleasing freedom of stroke against the speedy Kuwahara, whose indefatigable retrieving from the back of the court drew forth errors from his opponent.

GIANT SOUTH AFRICAN

Probably, the tallest man ever to take part in the Wimbledon championships arrived as a member of the South African team in England. He is W. Musgrove, who stands 6ft 6in.

The six players who have come over are: N. G. Farquharson, the old Cambridge Blue and present holder of the South African singles title, V. G. Kirby, Max Bertram, and J. Hendrie—these four will play in the Davis Cup tie against Poland at Warsaw on May 17, 18 and 19—and Musgrove and W. Muir.

Musgrove and Muir are 20 years old.

Mr. T. B. Barker will act as non-playing captain, and he accompanied the team to Bournemouth from Southampton. The visitors are to take part in the British hard court championships, which begin on April 29, and they will afterwards go to Paris for the French championships.

BAROQUE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

Herr Hitler is utilising his stay in Munich to superintend the arrangement of his flat in Prince Regentenstrasse.

The rooms have all been renovated and enlargements have been made. All the furnishings and decorations are being carried out according to Herr Hitler's own designs.

The Fuehrer is a great lover of German 18th century art.

The decorations in his flat follow the German heroic colour scheme of blue, gold and white, made famous in Wagner's operas, and the furnishing is all of the same style. He recently purchased six paintings of German 18th century artists from an American dealer.

CHURCH GUTTED IN TIENSIN FIRE

Tientsin, May 18.
A fire this afternoon gutted All Saints Church in the British area, and spread to the Kailan Mining Administration building across the street. The sparks set the Dahren Kisen Osaka Shosen's building, a quarter of a mile away, on fire.

Soldiers of the U.S. 15th Infantry and the Worcester Regiment and civilians aided the firemen. There were no casualties, but the damage is placed at many thousands of dollars.

The fire started in the bell-tower of the church, where workmen, who were fixing the bell, left a blow-torch on a rafter. The fire started at three o'clock and was all under control by 4.15.

CONGRESS CHALLENGED BY ROOSEVELT

N.R.A. Continuation

Washington, May 16.
Following his decision to veto the Patman Bill, President Roosevelt flung down another challenge to Congress to-day by stating he had agreed with the Board of the N.R.A. on a programme involving expansion of the National Recovery Act projects over a period of two years.

This decision was taken despite the fact that the Senate had voted to prolong the N.R.A. for only ten months.

It is believed, however, that sentiment in the House of Representatives favoured the continuation of the N.R.A. for the period which the President wishes.

LATE MR. F. A. BRITTON

Special Prayers At St. John's Cathedral

At the evening service at St. John's Cathedral yesterday special prayers were offered for the late Mr. F. A. Britton, former house master of St. Stephen's College, whose death was announced in our columns last week. There was a large gathering present, and the opportunity was also taken to express sympathy with the members of Mr. Britton's family.

The Rt. Bishop R. O. Hall, who took the service, said:

There must be in our minds too deeply moving thoughts. A deep sense of loss and of affection for our dead friend. Secondly the strange mystery of death and the pain of the separation which it involves.

But Fred Britton himself would most want this service to be a help to us in living. He would want his dying to do what in life he always strove to do—he would want his dying to draw each one of us closer to the Living God.

When we say the simple, old Creed of our Church, Sunday by Sunday, we affirm our faith in the resurrection of the body. At some periods of the Church's history when the understanding of the relation of personality to its physical envelope was not very high men expressed their faith in the resurrection of the flesh but that is not what we mean, and what we believe; we believe in the resurrection of the body, and by the body we mean a living person and the living person as a separate and distinct recognisable entity.

Some people like to think of those who pass on returning like a rain drop into a vast ocean adding their bit to a vast personality. This is a muddled thinking. The difference between a person and a rain drop is profound. I can take two rain drops and put them in a tea spoon. I then have a greater rain drop. But I cannot take two persons and stitch them together and then have one large person. The essential mark of personality is its separateness.

Two Other Views

There are two other views of life after death which I believe to be mistaken. The first that some kind of everlastingness attaches to human personality. The phrase, "Immortal soul" is, I believe, indefensible. The second is rather like it. It is that life after death is earned by the good as some kind of reward for righteousness. The mistake that is made by both these two views is that they attach undue importance to the continuance of personality as a living experience without paying sufficient attention to the fact that the living experience that matters is always the experience of other persons. Apart from the joyful or interesting contact with other personalities personal life is meaningless, there is no value in continuity as such.

As Christians we say, week by week, "I believe in the resurrection of the body." We do not say "I believe in the immortality of the soul," nor do we say "I believe in the resurrection of the righteous and the damnation of the unrighteous." We believe in the resurrection of the body because we believe in God. We believe that the living experience of persons is the highest and best experience when it is experience of the infinite personality of God—in other words when life is a friendship between the creature and the Creator. We are, in the words of our Master "Children of the bride chamber." We share continually in the riches of the Divine Personality.

In Sigrid Unset's book "The Master of Esviken" Olaf and Ingrid grow up as brother and sister, though Ingrid's father is in fact Olaf's guardian and the two children are betrothed to each other. The book opens with a very penetrating description of their falling in love. Though the story is long and sad that love remains throughout, and it has in it always two strands. One, an abiding sense of accustomedness to one another which is shared by all brothers and sisters; and the other, a richer personal devotion of married love.

Love And Obedience

The experience of man in his relation to God is very similar. We grow up surrounded by the creative influences of beauty and friendship and discipline. These are all impersonal, almost unconscious contacts with the Creative Spirit. There comes a time, however, to most men who care eagerly to know all that is unseen, there comes to such men a deeper sense of personal communion. This personal communion has the intensely personal quality that is present in human life when men and women fall in love, with each other. I think the word love is inadequate to describe the relationship between the soul and God because it is used for human experience at its highest. The only adequate description of this intensely personal experience of God is the hyphenated phrase "Love-and-Obedience." The experience is intensely personal and felt often with great joy, but at its best it always finds itself in a readiness to obey; a readiness to obey even in times of apertness and dryness of spiritual perception; a readiness to obey which carries on when times are bad by aid of the light given to us in happier days.

Consider again the illustration of Olaf and Ingrid. There are two qualities of living. The first is one of use and wont as between brothers and sisters, and the second has a deep personal quality about it which depends upon personal love and devotion. It is this second way of living that we mean when we say "we believe in the resurrection of the body." The risen life is something which depends upon God's love for us in the first instance, but also our love for Him. It is possible for an individual person so continuously to refuse to accept this love that the personality itself is completely disintegrated. This is what we mean by hell. Will you please remember that hell is a metaphor. In one of Jesus' parables which is expressly stated as describing the difference between God's values and men's values, Dives is described as being in torment, Lazarus in Abraham's bosom. We have no right to take torment as literal if we do not also take Abraham's bosom as literal. There are two states in the after life; one is the happiness of fellowship with God, the other is the misery of the divided mind which still seeks its own independence and self-will against God. We believe that the latter state is hell and finally leads to the complete destruction of the personality.

The Greatest Aid

Out faith in resurrection is surely the greatest aid to living in this world. We are not haunted as Hinduism is haunted by an indelible personality which must go on for ever and ever. Nor are we committed to a soul destroying policy of "moral life insurance." We are not asked to be good in order that we may have some felicity after death. We are asked rather to believe that God is Father; that life here is co-operation with Him in all the business of this world in which we live; and that when death comes God will raise us up to new opportunities in a still more spiritual co-operation with Him.

Would it be easier, you ask, if we knew this for certain, or would it be easier if we could now talk to Fred Britton and listen to what he has to say about it? I do not think so. Jesus, the master of common sense, speaks to His mother and His beloved friend as He is dying "Son," he says, "behold thy mother; mother behold thy son." He did not say to His mother "I shall still be present with you as your son." He said "My death makes a new mothering possible for you." He seemed to close the door on any attempt at spiritual enquiry and to offer instead a new opportunity for new relationship in this life.

Surely Fred Britton would say the same to us, "carry on the work of the school, carry on your own life, do not weaken your energy or imagination or neglect the tasks that lie to your hand by wondering about me."

So we meet to-night as Crusaders. One whom we loved has passed from us but the work in which he was a great captain still lies ahead. He would have us go forward confidently to carry on the work. We stop to-night to thank God for him, eager to be sure that we take into our own lives something that he always gave us when he was with us. Of these surely the deepest is faith in God; faith that the meaning of this life is in our fellowship with God and co-operation with Him, faith also that the same is true of death, that the same God will raise us up to newness of life with Him. The second thought we can take from this service is that Jesus was Lord to him rather than Master. A master teaches us the right thing

HONG KONG SINGERS

Lady Southern First President

With very great pleasure the Hong Kong Singers announce that Lady Southern O.B.E. has graciously consented to become their first President. In accepting this position Lady Southern has expressed her gratification at the invitation and commented on the rapid development and increasing efficiency of the Choral Society in which she has always taken a very deep interest.

One of the members, Mr. C.A.K. Jeffery left Hong Kong for England some few months ago and his fiancée, another member embarked on the "Naldora" on Saturday to join him. Their approaching marriage is the culmination of a happy romance of the Hong Kong Singers which has given the greatest pleasure to their many friends. At the rehearsal on Thursday last Miss Holmes was the recipient of a beautiful cloisonné vase which was presented with the best wishes of all the members for their future happiness.

Final Rehearsal

The final rehearsal of the season will take place on Thursday June 6th and will be held in St. John's Cathedral. Among other items Parry's eight-part setting of Milton's Ode "Blest pair of sirens" will be rendered as well as Bach's Motet "Jesu, priceless treasure." Mr. Lindsay Lafford, P.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., the newly appointed organist of the Cathedral will accompany on the organ and Mr. J. Anderson Miller L.R.A.M. will conduct.

Mr. Lindsay Lafford has not only promised to accompany the choir at future concerts but has also expressed his keen enthusiasm and delight in the ambitious programme already arranged for next season. Copies of Brahms' "Requiem," "For the Fallen" (Elgar) and "Messiah" (Handel) are being obtained immediately and intending members are urged to communicate with the Hon. Conductor, 92B, Nathan Road, Kowloon (Tel. 50283) without conditions in these districts—delay.

to do. Jesus of Nazareth did more for Fred Britton than that. He gave him more than teaching. He gave him a measure of his spirit. So the last word he would say to us is that he found in Jesus the Lord of his own life, its meaning its joy and its strength.

No Personal Existence

Some centuries ago an Englishman said "I would rather be in hell with Christ than in heaven without him." May I end where I began. There is no personal existence apart from experience of other persons. For Fred Britton the centre of life was his personal devotion to Jesus Christ. We believe that in the presence of Jesus Christ we are not separated from one another. We believe that the friendship of Jesus Christ, the eternal gift of God to men, given meaning alike to life and death. And so we face both life and death with joy and gladness because it is in Him we find our own personalities absorbed and taken up into a friendship infinite and eternal, and yet essentially personal and creative.

Among those present were:—Hon. Dr. E. W. Tso, Hon. Sir William Shenton, Mr. Li Hoi Tung, Mr. Tang Shiu Kin, Mr. A. W. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Maunier.

Wor. Bros. E. J. Wynne-Jones, J. J. Price, E. Beddows, W. Faid and representative Brethren of the University Lodge of Freemasons.

THE AMBULANCE BRIGADE

Successful Sale Of Work

The St. John Ambulance Association held a very successful display of work in the new headquarters of the Association at Causeway Bay on Saturday and yesterday. The whole organisation was under the capable hands of Mrs. Langley, the Secretary of the Association.

Great credit must also be given to the different nursing divisions who helped in no small measure to make the function a success.

In addition to some beautiful Jubilee portraits of Their Majesties which it is understood, have not been on view in the Colony before, there were raffles of dolls, bags and various other goods which received very encouraging support from the public. A beautifully dressed doll was won by Mr. Ip Kwai Cheng who bought ticket No. 28.

One of the most exquisite piece of work to be seen, was perhaps a beautiful Chinese Pagoda, made entirely of tortoise shell. This was the work of the Railway Division and attracted a great deal of attention.

The heat of the day made the tea and aerated water very essential and consequently a brisk business was reported from the men's lounge which was transformed into an efficient restaurant for the occasion.

The Helpers

The following were the Divisions which contributed to the success of the afternoon:—

Railway Division, curios; Y. W. C. A. Nursing Division, babies' clothes; King's College Nursing Division, aerated waters; Victoria Nursing Division, dolls; Nightingale Nursing Division, embroidery and curios; Nam Shiu Nursing Division, babies' clothes and silk-covered coat-hangers; May Fung Girls' School Nursing Division, Chinese pictures; Mongkok Nursing Division, artificial flower; Central Nursing Division, Swatow drawnwork and games.

The following firms contributed goods:—

Sincere Co., Wing On Co., Nam Yung Tobacco Co., British American Tobacco Co., Blue Bird Co., Sean Yau Zoo and Co., Watson's Aerated Water Factory, Connaught Aerated Water Factory, Wah Tak Co., Hong Kong Furniture Co., Chipsa Dispensary, King's Dispensary and the Swatow Drawn Thread Work Co.

EMPIRE DAY

Ball At Peninsula Hotel

A public banquet in which about 1,500 persons will attend will be held on Empire Day at London according to information received from the Headquarters of the Royal Empire Society by the Hon. Corresponding Secretary of the Society in Hong Kong, Sir Henry Pollock, K.C.

In Hong Kong it is believed a dinner followed by a Ball would prove more generally attractive than a dinner only, and accordingly arrangements have been concluded with the Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels to hold a Gala Night at the Peninsula Hotel on Empire Day, Friday, May 24.

Part of the proceeds will be devoted to the Building Funds of the Royal Empire Society and the Overseas League. The charge has been fixed at $5 per head and this will include dinner and light supper.

DR. SZE HONOURED

A farewell party was given to Dr. Sze Tung-sing, First Assistant to the Professor of Medicine at the University of Hong Kong, at the University Pavilion on Saturday evening.

Dr. Sze, a Shanghai boy, recently won the first prize in the Exner Indemnity Fund Scholarship held in Nanking which open to all Chinese graduates from all over China.

The Scholarship entitles the winner to a four-year course at one of the major universities in England.

The party was given by the Shanghai Graduates Association and was attended by a number of friends among whom was Dr. J. S. Gunder who in a few well-thought words congratulated Dr. Sze, and also, on behalf of the other guests, wished him every success in his forthcoming venture into the higher spheres of medicine.

COLLISION IN HARBOUR

Canton Vessels Involved

Two silver steamers were involved in an accident last night shortly after ten o'clock, when the s.s. Tin Yat and the s.s. Tung On collided in the harbour at a point almost opposite to Whitty Street at West Point.

The Tin Yat was on her way to Canton and had left her wharf, which is close to the Western Market, and the Tung On was arriving from that city when the mishap occurred.

Both steamers berthed alongside their respective wharves, when it was found that the Tung On was slightly holed above the water line where contact had been made by the Tin Yat's bow.

Several passengers on both vessels were thrown off their legs by the impact but no more serious casualties were reported beyond a bleeding nose which an adult passenger suffered and a child fainting from shock—both of which occurred on the Tung On.

Both vessels are going into dock for examination, the Tin Yat having discharged her passengers and cancelling her sailing to Canton.

CHILDREN OF WAR VICTIMS

The Ministry of Pensions is bringing one chapter of its work to a close—work that had been fully and finely done and those concerned have good reason to be satisfied with and proud of themselves. It is of course a well-known fact that the Ministry was charged with the care of two generations of the War's victims—those who had been disabled and permanently wounded and the children of both the killed and the disabled.

Time is taking the children out of the Ministry's hands and in three years time the last of them will have come to independence and the Ministry will be able to close a long account of which every item has been an instrument of good. One may form an idea of the work done when it is said that one and three-quarter million children have come to bless the Ministry and its staff, not forgetting a devoted band of 25,000 voluntary workers in every town and many a country parish. At one year, there were as many as 1,250,000 children who were receiving pensions or allowances but the figure to-day is only 26,000 and it is rapidly declining. Though the Ministry has had to provide for the care, the maintenance, the education, and the employment of this immense number of wards, little has been heard of the work which has been going on smoothly and silently, making no commotion in political waters, and, although under the direct control of Parliament, exciting no controversy. Supervision has been personal and not perfunctory and the voluntary workers have made the children an individual care, and the Ministry handsomely acknowledges that to the Special Grants Committee and the local committees and sub-committees throughout the country belongs the credit which the children's service has achieved.

The Ministry disregards its own part in establishing an efficient indirect control which is perhaps the most difficult of all forms of management. Nevertheless the general tone and character of the administration are to be attributed to the Department itself and the Ministers who have successfully controlled its affairs. The work has had the two main divisions of general welfare and education, and assistance, has been adapted to every variety of circumstance and there has been available, to meet exceptional needs not within the compass of public funds, the resources of the King's Fund amounting to £1,250,000, of which the Minister of Pensions is trustee. Most of this fund has been used to benefit adults though it must be mentioned that the children too have also benefited by it.

The work of the Ministry is of such nature that even in good times, when complete supervision of the children was unnecessary, the Ministry and its committees have always made themselves available whenever advice is sought and there have been not a few cases requiring not only thoughtful but authoritative advice and sometimes the exercise of as much constraint as it was lawful to apply. The facts, however, very imperfectly tell of a truly excellent work performed with sympathy and understanding.

If Gossip We Must

(BY "FRUDENCE")

The sixth Extra Race Meeting last Saturday, attracted a smaller crowd than usual. I am inclined to think that a great many people were taking a rest after the strenuous week spent in farewelling Sir William and Lady Peel, now, alas, well away on board that wonderful ship the Empress of Japan. Farewell parties are always rather trying, and there were so many of them last week that some of our Best-Knowns found it quite a puzzle to think of something appropriate (and yet different) to say on each succeeding occasion.

What a pity that so few people availed themselves of the opportunity of going to the Public Meeting at the University. Had it been held in Jubilee Week it would have attracted a big crowd. Unfortunately the Public Meeting on that occasion was made extremely private (and all but a few rigorously excluded). People out here are too proud to go where they are not wanted, so the casual invitations issued through the Press bidding them attend this second meeting just lacked the personal touch which would have assured them they were welcome.

But I am straying away from Happy Valley where so many of us went with the laudable intention of making a spot of money, and did we do it? Well, some did and some didn't, but I rather fancy that the Chief Justice was one of the lucky ones: I certainly noticed Mrs. MacGregor looking very bright and amused after certain numbers went up on the board.

PRETTY DRESSES

H.E. The Officer Administering the Government was there with Lady Southern, who looked particularly charming in a dress of terra-cotta collared with white. Lady Shenton wore cherry-red and her daughter chose a very practical little costume of yellow linen with a brown stock, and seemed to be the centre of a gay crowd as usual. Renee Toledana was looking very pretty in pale brown with a white wide hat, but was feeling rather wistful over her last Hong Kong Race Meeting. Sad to say she leaves for Peking next week and will not be coming back as she goes on to Europe via Canada. She is missed by the young set for she has done an amazing amount in her short stay and she will be remembered for her clever study of the "Italian Maid" which was one of the highlights in "The Young Idea."

I noticed Betty and Beryl Fair looking very sweet, the former in light blue chiffon-tweed, and the latter in tan, with a fascinating big bow-tie of brown. They, by the way are the pioneers of the Polo-For-Girls movement, and steal away across the harbour to practise whenever they can spare time from the Kiddies' Riding School. This is becoming more popular than ever now they have such convenient new quarters.

Mr. Frederick had the very latest thing in polka-dots, most chic and unusual. Mrs. A. B. Purves was looking very smart, too in navy, spotted with white, and was with Mrs. Bernard Brown who has been away for quite a while, and got here in the nick of time to lead in that most heavily-blinkered pony fly-by-night.

effective white dress banded with scarlet, and Peggy Murrow proved conclusively that she is one of the blondes who can wear that colour with brilliant success. I was most intrigued to see the girl in black-and-white who was dancing so divinely at the Grips the other night. I wonder who she is? Mr. and Mrs. Macfadyen were up on the Club verandah most of the afternoon, and I noticed the popular Secretary of the Hong Kong Club who still has his arm in a sling.

Mrs. Benny Proulx was very dainty in flowery voile, and had at least one (if not two) of her pretty sisters with her. Mrs. Hills was distinguished in narrow stripe of black and white, and Mrs. Perss looked awfully nice in a costume of subdued browns. Mrs. Peter Grist had the sweetest frock of very pale blue with narrow frills of black. Very few people know that she was the originator and producer of the most delightful Floral Pageant which was danced by the Guides and Brownies, and which was one of the greatest successes of the Jamborally.

Miss Russell looked very dainty in pink and I think she was more interested in the racing than she was in the fashion-parade. Mr. Frost disconcerted a lot of us by winning when we least expected it, and by losing when we thought him safe for a win, and what shall we do with these rough "soldiers" who fling their jockeys about? Lucky that no bones were broken, and no damage, except to that balance in the Bank!

Quite the smartest looking "young married" on the Pier was Mrs. Dudley King who was wearing a lovely rich green with a gold tissue collar. Tearing my eyes with difficulty from this pleasant sight, I looked round and saw a regular bevy of people I knew and got so engrossed in conversation that I completely forgot my duty as a gossip writer.

FLOWERS FOR LADY PEEL

How time does fly! It only seems yesterday that we were, standing on that self-same pier waiting to welcome the new Governor and his wife. I remember when the newly arrived Lady Peel was wearing mauve and again on Friday she had a beautifully cut coat of dark violet over a white dress and a white hat. Quite the largest basket of flowers I have ever seen was taken on board the "Britannia" and several bouquets of flowers were given to Lady Peel by friends on the pier. After what had all shaken hands and said good-bye, three cheers were called for by the General, as the Britannia moved slowly away from the Pier. Having a bridge engagement in May Road, I took a taxi there to find my hostess and all her guests hanging over the verandah, still watching the departure. Later we saw the Empress of Japan, escorted by two destroyers, slowly leaving the harbour with our retiring Governor and his charming wife who will be very much missed by a host of friends in Hong Kong.

A BUSY WEEK

(BY "ONLOOKER")

Was there ever a week with so many functions to attend?

On Monday last the Violet Peel Health Centre was opened by Lady Peel who, with Mr. Tang Shu-kin and the Hon. Mr. Kotewall has done so much to bring this splendid Centre into being.

When I arrived the whole building was seething with eager visitors who were exploring it from end to end. But soon we were marshalled out into the street to be ready to receive His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel. Looking around the large crowd I saw a lot of well-known faces including Mrs. Hunter, that hard working lady doctor who devotes so much time to Infant Welfare, and who will continue to be in charge of the Infant Department in the new premises. The Government and civil medical fraternity, both male and female, were much in evidence, of course, also a number of wives including Mrs. Black who was wearing a dark blue suit made of the most intriguing cool material, and Mrs. Anderson who looked most striking in an orange linen coat over a white dress.

AND THEN, TEA.

Mrs. Kotewall looked charming in white and her grown up daughters wore attractive twin dresses as usual. The little daughter was given a special holiday from school for the occasion, and presented Lady Peel with a lovely basket of flowers after the speeches. Miss Helen Yu was wearing a lovely shade of royal blue, a perfect Jubilee colour. Mrs. Sedgwick wore blue too, and I loved Mrs. Lowick's eggshell blue suit. Mrs. Dodwell had a charming printed silk effect, and Mrs. Taggart—always so smart—wore brown with a charming pinkish coat.

After the speeches, which were not a bit too long, after all very interesting, we had a delicious tea which came from the Hong Kong Hotel.

BON VOYAGE

Goodbyes are always sad and it was a very subdued collection of people who assembled to say goodbye to His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel at Queen's Pier on Friday. The streets were lined with soldiers, all the way from Government House to the Pier, which was made festive with flags, palms and a very beautiful red carpet down the middle. Once more the men folk had decked themselves out in full regalia, and once more the civilians were bewailing their plight. Why don't they have tropical morning coats made of a light material such as alpaca? There is one very smart and well-known official who wears one of these and looks very nice and happy in it.

Tearing my eyes with difficulty from this pleasant sight, I looked round and saw a regular bevy of people I knew and got so engrossed in conversation that I completely forgot my duty as a gossip writer.

MEN'S FASHIONS

The fashions amongst the men on the beach are getting gayer and gayer. No longer can it be said that the stronger sex are dull and colourless in their appearance. Last week-end I noticed some in a certain secluded little beach disporting themselves in a veritable riot of colour. There was one big strong man in blue and white striped jersey; there was another in grass green aertex, and the third in a pale blue shirt. Later when these stalwarts took to the water their bathing trunks were seen to be just as gay as their shore clothes. What a comfort it is to live in a colourful generation!

FORTY EIGHT LIVES LOST IN AEROPLANE CRASH

Employees And Families In Fatal Joy Ride

END OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST PLANE

Stunt Flier Collides With Maxim Gorky

Moscow, May 18.

Forty eight persons, comprising the crew of eleven and thirty six passengers, were killed when the Maxim Gorky, the world's largest aeroplane, crashed near the Moscow airport after colliding with a smaller machine to-day.

The official account says that the Maxim Gorky was flying over the central aerodrome at 12.45 p.m. with thirty-six employees of the Central Aerodynamic Institute as passengers, accompanied by an instructional machine belonging to the Institute and piloted by M. Blaguin.

Despite stringent orders, M. Blaguin started stunting close to the Maxim Gorky at a height of 2,250 feet, and he was just finishing the loop when his plane struck the wing of the Maxim Gorky, which was immediately plunged into a bad crash to earth.

The passengers comprise engineers, technicians and members of the working men's institute and several members of their families. The dead will be given a state funeral on Monday. Families of the victims will be compensated by the Government.

"FREE DAY" JOY RIDE

The Maxim Gorky's passengers were joy-riding on the occasion of the Soviet "Free Day."

An eyewitness said that he saw the small plane strike the propeller of one of the Maxim Gorky's eight engines. The pilots tried to glide down to earth, but the machine fell in pieces, the debris covering a wide area.

It was a most pitiable spectacle with the mutilated bodies, smashed engines, twisted metal work and torn fabric strewn all over the place. One wing crashed on the roof of a house where a tea party was being held.

ANOTHER REPORT

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 19, 7.30 p.m.)

Moscow, May 18.
The Maxim Gorky, which is the largest airplane in the world, crashed near Moscow flying high to-day. Details of the accident and the number of lives lost are not yet disclosed by the Soviet authorities, but so far as is known the disaster was caused by a collision in mid-air with another machine.

The wingspan of the Maxim Gorky was nearly 220 feet, the giant plane being fitted with eight motors with a total of 5,000 horse power and providing room for 40 passengers besides a crew numbering 23. In addition to the customary radio apparatus, the machine was also equipped with a photographic laboratory and a printing plant.

LATER DETAILS

Moscow, May 19.
Forty-eight persons consisting of the pilot, eleven of the crew and thirty six passengers perished in the catastrophe of the giant propaganda plane Maxim Gorky.

It is now officially stated that the catastrophe was solely due to the recklessness of the trick flier Saschin who, in a fast pursuit plane, performed stunts despite official directions in the immediate vicinity of the other machine shortly after its departure from the Moscow flying field.

Saschin's plane rammed the Maxim Gorky with such force that the giant airplane turned several somersaults notwithstanding its enormous weight, the left wing breaking off and the machine bursting into flames. The pursuit plane also crashed, Saschin himself being killed.

The Soviet Government have decided to give all the victims of the terrible disaster a state funeral and grant pensions to their bereaved relatives.

U. S. MISSION MEMBERS IN AIR CRASH

Five Occupants Safe

Shanghai, May 18.

An air liner of the China National Aviation Corporation, while taking off for Hankow with two members of the American Economic Mission aboard, crashed into the Whangpoo River near Lung-hwa and sank rapidly, but all five occupants were saved by the River Police.

The two members of the Mission were Professor C. E. Remer, who was slightly injured, and Mr. Leighton Rogers, who was not hurt.

Mr. Leighton Rogers, who is Vice-President of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of Washington D. C., was sent to hospital with a broken arm and cuts.

Mr. Remer, who escaped with scratches, said: "While turning, the wing touched the water and the plane nosed into the river. Water poured in and we climbed out and stood in the water to our waists until we were taken off by a police boat."

LATER MESSAGE

It now transpires that Mr. Broiles has not broken his arm, but is suffering from cuts on the nose and lip.

The occupants were taken off in a C.N.A.C. sampan and not by a police boat.

The amphibian had risen 100 feet, but Mr. Broiles decided to return on account of the diminishing revolutions of the engine. He circled and alighted while the plane was still banking, with the result that the right wing tip touched the water.

The two pilots were Mr. H. Broiles, who received cuts in the face, and Mr. Y. Kwong. The third passenger was Mr. R. C. Brown, an American.

Further details concerning the arrest of the Britisher, Victor Adams on Friday are now published in the semi-official organ, Politische Korrespondenz.

MEMEL DEATH SENTENCES

Appeal Dismissed

Kaunas, May 17.

The appeals of four Nazis of Memel charged with plotting to overthrow the power of the authorities there and to place the city and its environs under Nazi control, and who were sentenced to death, have been dismissed by the Supreme Court.

Simultaneously, the appeals of about eighty others, sentenced to varying terms of imprisonment, were also dismissed.

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to allow the exercising of the right of petition to the President of Lithuania or clemency.

It is understood, however, that the Minister for War has the right to appeal on their behalf, while the President can commute the death sentences on his own initiative.

When the Memel Nazis were sentenced there was an outburst in Germany, and gravely disturbing demonstrations against the little East European state which, however, defied the German Reich to interfere in its affairs. Patriots of both countries talked loudly of the necessity for armed intervention; the Germans to save the Memel Nazis and the Lithuanians to prevent any recurrence of Nazi plotting within their borders.

FEELING NOT PACIFIED

Berlin, May 19.

The commutation of the death sentences of the Germans in Memel has not pacified feeling here. A unanimous demand that the Powers that guaranteed the Memel Statute "use their influence to re-establish law and order so that a re-trial of innocent Germans can be held" is made by the German Press.

The "Lokalanzeiger" says that the Germans demand justice, not grace, and declares that trial for a judicial crime and execution of death sentence would have been murder.

Three persons were reported to have been arrested at Königsberg connection with smashing windows of the Lithuanian Consulate General during demonstrations last night against the Kaunas verdict.

LAWRENCE OF ARABIA PASSES AWAY

Mother Still Unaware Of The Tragedy

London, May 19.

Lawrence of Arabia (Aircraftman Shaw) is dead. He continued to sink in the early morning, his heart weakening and congestion of the lung increasing until the beating of his pulse became very faint and breathing most difficult.

At 7 o'clock in the morning artificial respiration was resorted to as a desperate effort, but he died in the same state of unconsciousness he had been in since his motor cycle crash a hundred and forty two hours earlier.

FLORAL GIFTS

London, May 19.

Gifts of flowers from all parts of the country streamed in yesterday to Bovingdon Camp Military Hospital at Dorset where Lawrence of Arabia was dying. The staff was inundated with telephone enquiries.

Sir Farquhar Buzzard and other specialists from London hurried to the hospital yesterday, but their efforts were unavailing. Lawrence's pulse was almost gone at 7 o'clock in the morning. He died shortly after eight.

Accompanying the bulletin announcing the death was a special message stating that in accordance with the desire of Lawrence and his family no flowers be sent and only friends attend the funeral which will be very simple in nature.

BROTHER'S STATEMENT

It is understood that the funeral will take place in the village church at Moreton where Lawrence lived.

His brother revealed when he left the hospital after maintaining a night long vigil at the bedside that Lawrence's brain was irreparably damaged and it would have been a tragedy if he had lived, adding that Lawrence's mother was steaming down the Yangtze still unaware of the tragedy.

He has held his own throughout the day and his condition is unchanged.

Rumours that Colonel Lawrence's injuries were due to an attempt upon his life are declared to be baseless.

GOERING AND LAVAL

Important Meeting At Cracow

Cracow, May 19.

Premier Goering and M. Laval had an interview last evening in Marshal Petain's room. It is rumoured that armaments played a considerable part in the discussions. It is thought that Premier Goering gave M. Laval some account of the new German Air Force, but for the most part the discussions are thought to have surveyed the general lines on which a French visit to Berlin might be possible.

It is likely that Premier Goering has given M. Laval a general sketch of Chancellor's attitude towards current European problems. Diplomatic visitors here describe Cracow as the "Second Thoiry," referring to the famous informal meeting of M. Briand and Dr. Stresemann at Lake Geneva which led to an improvement in Franco-German relations after the war.

"MISS FRANCE" ELECTION

Stormy Scenes In Paris

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 19, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, May 19.
Stormy scenes marked the election of Elisabeth Fitz in a beauty competition here, to the much-coveted distinction of being this year's "Miss France."

Miss Fitz is a native of the Saar territory, who voted in the recent plebiscite, and a storm of protest broke out in the hall when the judging committee announced their decision.

This was apparently caused not so much by the doubts of Miss Fitz's physical charms as by her being a native of the Saar and it needed the solemn assurance on the part of the committee that despite her German origin Miss Fitz had "always given evidence of her loyalty to her adopted country" before the excited spectators were appeased.

ELECTIONS IN YUGOSLAVIA

Heavy Opposition Poll Recorded

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 19, 4.30 a.m.)

Belgrade, May 18.
A surprisingly heavy opposition poll totalling 1,301,000 votes against the Government party's 1,551,000 is the feature of the final results now published of the elections held on May 5 at Yugoslavia.

In fact of this unexpected success of the opposition block, it is reported that Prince Regent Paul is making every endeavour to effect a reconciliation of the two hostile camps. It is with this purpose that he has repeatedly received the present Finance Minister, Stoyadinovich in audience in the past few days, the Regent being credited with the intention of entrusting Stoyadinovich with the formation of a new Government.

ROYALTY VISIT SWEDEN

Princess Ingrid's Marriage

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, May 19, 4.30 a.m.)

Stockholm, May 18.
The King and Queen of Belgium arrived here on Saturday as the first, as well as the most distinguished guests in the forthcoming marriage of the Swedish Princess Ingrid with the Crown Prince of Denmark in Stockholm.

The Belgian Royal couple who were making their first official visit to Sweden were met on the platform by the King of Sweden and all the members of the Royal family, proceeding then to the Royal Palace in a gala procession escorted by mounted bodyguards.

More than social interest is attached to this visit since the Foreign Minister, van Zeeland, accompanied the Belgian Sovereigns to Stockholm where it is understood he will hold conversations with the Swedish Foreign Minister on questions affecting the mutual interest of both countries.

ANOTHER RECORD BEATEN

Shooting Star Sets Up New Time For Five Furlongs

ABLE AMAZON LOSES: STRATHNAIRN PAYS BACKERS WELL

Something in the nature of a sensation was provided racing enthusiasts on Saturday when Mr. Donald Black scored a magnificent win on Strathnairn to pay its backers the handsome dividend of $284.01. That, however, was not all the thrills to be had for there was plenty more in store when Bag Tor finished ahead of the formidable Able Amazon, which, it will be recalled, was debarred from the betting.

Due to the upset caused by Strathnairn, no one was fortunate enough to win the Daily Double with the result that the pool for this event will be carried over to the meeting on June 1.

Shooting Star, with Mr. Pih on the saddle, broke the record for the five furlongs while the most successful jockey for the day was Mr. Black who scored three wins.

DONALD BLACK'S THREE WINNERS

SUNGLASS HANDICAP

Soldier of Victory a good winner in the first race of the day when Rose Queen beat King's Jubilee for second place. Rose Queen was far behind with Flirt starting off at a very promising pace for the first half mile. Victoria Hall started promisingly and Gold Coin hung on tenaciously to the latter. Rose Queen made efforts to get to the front but met with no success till the home stretch was reached where she followed very close to King's Jubilee. Soldier of Victory was running stronger than ever and despite the "King's" efforts and Rose Queen's spurt, maintained the lead. A close fight was seen between the last two ponies for second place with Rose Queen gaining a slight advantage when the post was reached.

BRISBANE SPRING HANDICAP

A sensation was created by the defeat of Able Amazon (Pih) which was debarred from the betting, by Bag Tor, ridden by Proulx. Bag Tor started off badly being left behind. Saucy Face, Racing Heart and Cold Morning followed in order but when near the Golf Club Bag Tor responded splendidly and by the time the half mile was reached it was occupying the fourth place.

At the home stretch Able Amazon put on a spurt but Bag Tor gave him a great race and romped home half a length to the good with Australian Boy and Just That third and fourth respectively.

LEAD MINE HANDICAP

Hetman the favourite, disappointed its backers by being unplaced in this race. Before the start Deltz on Racing Heart was dismounted but re-mounted and took part in the race. Five ponies got off to a perfect start. King's Fancy got ahead, with Hetman in close attendance, Macaroni occupying the third position. A well-judged race by Black on Macaroni saw this pony gradually forging ahead in magnificent style, displacing King's Fancy from the lead, with Hetman trying hard to catch up with the latter. The same positions were reached at the winning post.

PINEAPPLE HANDICAP

Thirteen ponies accepted for the six furlongs race with Belmont Star setting the pace for the field. Lucky Strike and Sci-Fa were following close behind. After about two furlongs the ponies bunched together with Belmont star still in the lead. Double Chance came up to the third position by the time the quarter mile post was reached and when the home stretch was reached Sci-Fa went all out with Invermark in hot pursuit. Sci-Fa displaced Lucky Strike with Double Chance coming up with one length to spare. Belmont Star was dropped with Sci-Fa and Invermark taking the second and third places respectively.

SHING MUN STAKES

E.E. the Officer Administering the Government and Lady Southorn arrived in time to see the Shing Mun Stakes which proved to be an exciting race with Soldier of Peace, which was originally left behind cropping up near the grand stands to displace Clear View and Flybrant. Tammany Hall gave the spectators a thrill when he led most of the way until he was displaced in the stretch home.

SHATIN HANDICAP

Pride of Tsingtao came in first to pay $42.40 and to incidentally provided Mr. Black with his second win for the day.

Boxing Eve and What a Chance got off together with Great Hall a close third. What a Chance led until the straight when Pride of Tsingtao gradually came up to win by a half a length. Boxing Eve hung on gallantly but lost to Copper Idol for third place.

VICTORIA PARK HANDICAP

With the track in perfect condition the pace set by Shooting Star (Mr. Pih) looked to everyone as though it would be "record-breaking" and so it proved. Shooting Star ran an excellent race to shatter Able Amazon's five furlongs record by four-fifths of a second. A great struggle was seen between Alacrity and Vixen Tor with the latter just beaten for third place. Empire Day was a second from start to finish.

STONECUTTERS STAKES

The biggest dividend of the day was paid when Mr. Black steered Strathnairn past the winning post ahead of Beginner's Luck and Flamingo. Strathnairn paid its backers $284.01 but as no one chose him for the second leg of the Daily Double, the pool for this, amounting to $2,892.80 will be brought forward to the June meeting.

The field got off to a fairly good start with Forget-Me-Not in the lead, High West, fancied by many to win, filling second place. The last named looked as though it would win and for the greater part of the race ran splendidly. Then towards the end the race took an entirely different complexion with Strathnairn creeping up while Beginner's Luck and Flamingo occupied the second and third places respectively.

CUSTOMS HANDICAP

Bayardo repeated its victory of last meeting to pay $25 for a win. Incidentally this was Mr. Ferguson's first win at the Valley. The pony appeared to have been blocked at the finish but came through in grand style. Spinaway took second place with Monoplane third; Bright Star was unplaced.

MARSHAL PILSUDSKI'S FUNERAL

Solemn Procession To "Hill Of Kings"

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, 1894)
Graphic Messages Ordinance, 1894
Received, May 18, 7:30 p.m.)

Cracow, May 18.
The mortal remains of Marshal Pilsudski, will find their last resting place on Saturday in the vault of the famous Gothic Cathedral on Wawel Hill here where all the kings of Poland and many of her national heroes, including Kosciuszko, Prince Poniatowski and the poets, Mickiewicz and Slowacki, were buried.
The train conveying the Marshal's coffin arrived here on Saturday morning. The entire route followed by the train on Friday night was lined throughout by dense crowds of the peasant population anxious to pay their last tribute to the dead Marshal, and immense fires had been lighted at various places as a token of the inhabitants' respect.
The train halted for a short time at the largest stations where priests celebrated low mass at improvised altars. During the whole journey, officers and soldiers formed a guard of honour around the coffin which was placed on an open truck and illuminated by small searchlights in order to render it visible from afar.

PRESIDENT'S TRIBUTE

Cracow, May 18.
Headed by the venerable President Moscicki and representatives of nearly all the European and many other Powers, a 2½-mile-long procession accompanied Pilsudski's coffin at the last stage of the long journey to Maria Cathedral on the "Hill of Kings." The order of the procession was similar to that in Warsaw but included a greater number of clergy who chanted unceasingly as the procession slowly wound its way up the hill. The organ pealed music and a salute of honour of one hundred and one guns boomed as the Generals bore the coffin into the Cathedral and placed it on the gorgeous catafalque in the nave.

After the high mass celebrated by the Cracow Archbishop, Prince Sapieha, was concluded, President Moscicki held a funeral oration paying a glowing tribute to the great patriot who "gave Poland freedom and her frontiers respect and strength."

GERMANY'S SYMPATHY

Cracow, May 18.
The city's 200,000 inhabitants, with thousands of visitors from all over Poland, were awake all night long, paying a tribute to the late Marshal Pilsudski. Many even perched precariously on the roofs when the coffin arrived at the station at 8 o'clock this morning.
One of the biggest wreaths was sent by Chancellor Hitler. It was decorated with the German coat of arms.

Amid the muffled rolling of drums the body was borne through the city to join the last resting place of the Polish kings, Wawel Castle.

BERLIN CEREMONY
Berlin, May 18.
A solemn requiem for the deceased Marshal Pilsudski was held in the St. Hedwig's Cathedral here on Saturday and was attended by representatives of the German Government, and the Reichswehr as well as by the entire diplomatic corps headed by the Papal Nuncio, Monsignor Orsenigo.

EARLY SCENES
(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Warsaw, May 17.

Hushed silence fell on the dense crowd which packed the streets of the Polish capital when the tolling bells and muffled drums announced the end of the funeral service at the Cathedral and the start of the procession conveying Pilsudski's mortal remains to Mokotoff flying field.

The coffin was borne by members of the Government as well as ten officers from the Cathedral and placed on a gun carriage drawn by six black horses and covered with the Polish red and white eagle standard upon which lay Pilsudski's sword, marshal's baton and old soldier's cap.

heads were bared when the coffin was carried by six generals to the hill top where a field gun stood on the spot from which the dead Marshal held grand parades of the Polish army.

Led by the new Inspector-General, Rydz-Smigly and 100 generals the parade marched past the hill with lowered colours and swords while the reverberations of the muffled drums mingled with the drone of airplanes circling overhead.

A gun salute announced the end of the ceremony and the generals carried the coffin to a special train where Madame Pilsudski waited to accompany the mortal remains to Cracow.

The German delegation headed by General Goering together with foreign delegates left Warsaw, at 10.40 p.m. for Cracow to participate in the last rites on Saturday.

RIGHT TO VOTE

Hitler's New Rule

(Special Air Mail Service)
London, May 18.

Inhabitants of Germany will in future, it is announced by Dr. Frick, the Reich Minister of the Interior, be divided into two categories, citizens and those not deemed worthy of citizenship. The citizens will have to win their spurs.

"In deference to the will of our Leader," said Dr. Frick, "German citizenship will be an honour to be gained only by service to the people and State." Once obtained it will open up the way to all public offices.

Citizens alone will be accepted in the fighting formations of the Nazi movement and in the armed forces of the nation. They alone will have the right to vote.

Interior Category
An interior category of beings who in the new Germany will correspond to political status to the slaves of the Roman Empire, regarded as unfit to take a share in the Government, will comprise Jews and those who in virtue of their religious beliefs, democratic opinions or general views, might be expected to vote against the present dispensation.

The new plan will of course bring about an automatic 100 per cent. majority of votes for the Nazi regime whenever it may be decided, with a view to impressing opinion abroad, to submit a political issue to the electorate.

An order just issued by the Ministry of the Interior reads: "The display by Jews of the German colours and in particular of the swastika flag is not permitted."

GERMAN BUDGET SITUATION

Finance Minister's Statement

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, May 17.

The Finance Minister, Schwerin von Krosigk put the development of the German Budget situation during the last two years in a nutshell when he stated in a speech on Thursday evening that in the course of this period the expenditure for the relief of the unemployed was reduced by 14 milliards while the revenues from taxes increased by the same amount. This net increase of three milliards has been achieved by investment of 4 milliards in the employment creation measures and this policy of active expenditure has been justified by the results attained even if the budgets of the next five years must be each debited with one milliard for repayment of this sum.

Pointing out that the newly gained military independence also provided a further source of orders for industry, the Finance Minister emphatically denied the rumours that the Government intended imposing a levy for the army. On the other hand it would at present be impossible to make any appreciable reduction of taxes since there are still important national and economic tasks to be accomplished.

Referring to the question of foreign trade, von Krosigk emphasized that Germany is interested not in the limitation but the extension of international commerce. Economic self-sufficiency is not the ideal or aim but only a temporary necessity. Germany wished to help to overcome the world and thus also the German economic crisis by the increase of international trade but this is only possible when each

BERLIN BOURSE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, May 18.

The buying wave continued in the stock market on Saturday with numerous shares showing smart rises and brisk trading prevailing. The upward trend was influenced by the publication of the favourable balance sheets of a number of leading firms as well as the Finance Minister's speech on public finance and economy. The Government's declaration that it is not intended to introduce any financial levy for the army or embarking on financial experiments has been received with satisfaction. Fixed interest securities were weak with no uniform tendency.

Call Money 2 1/2 to 2 3/4. Young Loan unchanged, Reichsbank rose 1/2 to 162, Dye trust up 1 1/2 to 249 1/2. Salzdorf-Potsdam gained 1/2 to 164, German Steeltrust better 1/2 to 82, German Mineral Oil down 1/2 to 111 1/2, Siemenshalske higher 1/2 to 165, Benberg Rayon up 1 to 115.

Last week's stimulation of the stock market continued all week, especially accentuated towards the week-end. The price rises of the favourites were remarkable furnishing the necessary background as well as confidence. The Finance Minister's speech commanded interest which in turn was echoed by renewed activity. Fixed interest securities, however, was quiet with a small turnover and hardly any changes.

country finally stabilised its currency and international debts settled in an honourable manner.

Germany did not desire to be a defaulting debtor or evade repayment of private loans but demanded that the interest be reduced to a reasonable level and that Germany be not treated worse than other countries.

U. S. SILVER POLICY

Limits Of Purchase

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, April 30.

As a pendant to the Presidential proclamation of which the effect was to raise the price paid for silver in the United States to 77.57 cents an ounce—the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, told the Press that the Government would continue to buy silver until either the price had reached $1.29c an ounce or the stocks of the metal in the Treasury had reached a one-third of that of the gold stocks. This action, he added, was merely the carrying out of the mandate of Congress.

The Treasury statement of April 23 valued the gold stocks on that date at $8,700,140,182 and silver at $31,414,722, this last represented by $301,891,201 in silver and silver dollars, $4,253,801 in fractional silver coin, bullion of a cost value of $114,566,895, and silver bullion with a recognized value of $10,703,025. In order to carry out the Congressional "mandate" silver stocks of a value of $2,900,046,727 would be required and the Treasury is still $1,968,832,005 short of that figure.

The effect of last night's proclamation, on the representatives in the Senate of the silver-producing States was joyous and immediate. Senator Wheeler (Montana) was delighted, but announced that his fight for the remonetization of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 with gold would go on. "That," he said, "would mean $2.12c. an ounce for silver at the present price of gold." Senator King (Utah) expects "silver to supplement, if it does not take the place of, gold," and predicts that "we shall soon have a bimetallic standard in all nations," for "the United States is leading the way back to bimetalism."

Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, as to which the right is reserved to revoke or modify it, ordered that deduction for "seigniorage and services performed by the Government" should be 40 per cent. on silver purchases, the monetary value of the silver received being $1.2929 an ounce.
